

Aviation in North Carolina's Northeast

Northeastern North Carolina's aviation potential is primed for expansion. With land available for development combined with our existing infrastructure, new businesses will find opportunities to fully use our transportation resources.

Positioned just south of Hampton Roads, Virginia, and east of I-95, North Carolina's Northeast is convenient to your destination.

"The stage is set for the development of a vibrant Aero/Space Economy in North Carolina." - North Carolina Space Initiative (NCSI)

Your aviation partnership begins here.
